Letter from the Commission

Dear neighbors and friends of the Preserve

We've had a particularly busy year maintaining and restoring the Wetherill Nature Preserve (WNP) this year. Our typical annual maintenance budget is $35,000. With support from the Towns of Yarrow and Hunts Point along with the generous support of the residents and friends of the Preserve, we've been able to address our annual maintenance needs. Here's a recap of the activities over the last year:

Trail flooding remediation. Built up and raised the Lake and Marsh trails to thwart perpetual flooding.

Hazardous trees removal. Cut down the dying cottonwoods threatening people and properties.

Invasive species removal. Removed poison hemlock, purple loosestrife, and clinging tree ivy.

Small animal/bird habitat construction. Created eight habitat havens for wildlife using tree-fall debris.

Davey Tree Co. was hired to remediate numerous dying cottonwood trees to ensure visitor safety and prevent nearby property damage.

Funding for long-term sustainability of WNP

In the past, we've relied heavily on a few volunteers to address the majority of our maintenance needs, but increasingly we must use contracted manpower to tackle the larger, dangerous, or technical projects. Tree hazard projects mentioned above have depleted our reserves, which hinders future projects to ensure the stability and long-term health of the Preserve.

Capital campaign for WNP special projects

The Commission has identified $100,000 in special projects which includes hiring professional help. Keep reading this newsletter to learn more about the priorities and goals of this capital campaign and how you might help.

We've raised over $15,000 for the special projects fund since the August kick-off and our goal is to raise $40,000 by year end 2024, but we'll continue to campaign until we reach our goal. Please consider donating to both the Annual Fund and the Special Projects Fund. You'll find donation instructions in this newsletter. If you have any questions or suggestions, please reach out to us at wetherillnaturepreserve@gmail.com.

Thank you for your continued support!

Mike Koss
Chairman, Wetherill Nature Preserve

Volunteers and donors make a big impact

Hands-on help in the Preserve is greatly valued. Volunteers are helping to clear trails, pull ivy, plant seedings, mitigate blackberry overgrowth, build habitat havens, and move resources within the Preserve. This means a safer, more accessible and enjoyable experience for visitors.

We'd like to give a big THANK YOU to Flynn Boettcher (our hard-working intern), Jim Bugbee, Michael Kranda, Deanna Hay, Dayton Mills, Scout troop 430 Eagle Scout leaders Ethan Liu and Daniel Emerson along with their helpers, and members of the Seattle Garden Club.

The Preserve's volunteer super heroes: David Bergey and Bruce Jones

A heartfelt THANK YOU to two volunteers, Bruce Jones and David Bergey, who have given many hundreds of hours each year for the past two decades stewarding the WNP. They've worked tirelessly to repair storm damage, dig trenches, cut down dangerous trees, clear and build trails, carry loads of materials, plant native trees and shrubs, clear invasives, work alongside contractors, build habitat havens, and do the heavy lifting to benefit us all.

Reach out to us to engage and volunteer!

The WNP Commission appreciates and is always in need of enthusiastic volunteers. We have ongoing projects like tracking seasonal migrations of birds throughout the Preserve or helping by spreading its story and needs via social media.

Grateful to Volunteers!

The Wetherill Commissioners greatly appreciate Daniel Emerson who chose WNP for his capstone Eagle Scout project. Daniel built and installed two bat boxes to help reduce mosquito population.

The younger generation is revitalizing the Preserve's efforts by actively contributing their support and demonstrating engagement and appreciation for our natural environments.

As reliable as rain in the northwest, the Seattle Garden Club continues to help annually. This April, the team worked hard to clear debris, dead branches, blackberries, and more.

Natural safe havens for wildlife in the Preserve

Habitat havens within the Preserve are essential for wildlife because they provide safe spaces for species to thrive without the threats of urbanization, pollution, and human interference. These protected areas offer shelter, helping wildlife to maintain healthy populations and ecosystems. Since Preserves also serve as crucial breeding grounds, habitat havens help with the continuation of species and biodiversity, which is fundamental to the overall health of our planet.

A pileated woodpecker drums on trees and searches for insects.

Consider sending photos of wildlife you've seen in WNP so we might post them on our website and newsletters. Email to wetherillnaturepreserve@gmail.com.

The 16-acre Wetherill Nature Preserve was given to the towns of Hunts Point and Yarrow Point in 1988 by Marjorie Wetherill Baird and Sidonia Wetherill Foley, descendants of a pioneer Seattle family. It is managed and supported by resident commissioners, volunteers, and caring donors.

What you might see in the Preserve

The Preserve is a haven for wildlife enthusiasts. Visitors may encounter a variety of species, including deer grazing and busy beavers. Bird-watchers will delight in spotting bald eagles soaring overhead and songbirds flitting among the trees. The preserve's diverse ecosystems provide habitats for smaller mammals like raccoons and squirrels, as well as an array of amphibians and reptiles. WNP offers a unique opportunity to experience the rich biodiversity of the Pacific Northwest.

The WNP Commissioners

The WNP Commission is comprised of volunteers from Hunts Point (HP), Yarrow Point (YP), and Clyde Hill (At Large).

Capital campaign priorities and goals for 2025-26

Special Projects Fund

The WNP Commission identified $100,000 of capital projects to address in 2025-26.

- Restore damaged trails and habitat (focused on the Lake and Marsh trails). Approximately three-quarters of the Special Projects Fund will go towards this priority.
- Update the WNP Management Plan with a new focus on ecosystem resilience and visitor experience. This plan was last updated in 2017.
- Update signage, replace rotting benches, and fence the maintenance area.

What's the difference between the WNP Special Projects Fund and the Annual Fund?

The Annual Fund (target is $35,000) is used for regular maintenance, limited tree control and invasives removal. The Towns of Yarrow Point and Hunts Point each contribute $10,000 annually. In 2024, the WNP Commission spent an additional $53,000 from reserves to remove and clean up dead or dying poplars and cottonwoods. The rest of our budget comes from generous neighbors like you.

The Special Projects Fund is intended to address critical issues outside of normal maintenance in our 16-acre urban forest and wetland. These projects will better prepare the Preserve for the next decade of increasing weather damage, flooding, and visitors.

THANK YOU to those who have already made generous gifts to the WNP Special Projects fund!

Support your community's Wetherill Nature Preserve!

We hope you will contribute to both the Annual Fund and the Special Projects Fund. While any amount you can give will be greatly appreciated, please consider donating a minimum of $150 to the annual fund and a minimum of $300 to the special projects fund to help us reach our goal of $40,000 by the end of 2024.

Special projects fund donations can be made now and throughout 2025 and are eligible for donations from Donor Advised Funds (DAF).

Donations to the Wetherill Nature Preserve are tax deductible (c.f. IRS code at 26 U.S.C. §170(c)(1)).
